Abstract
Sri Sathya Sai Baba has given new dimension to human transformation. Through his teachings, life and works, he has established world-wide movement based on infinite and self-less LOVE. His concept of humanity is that all are one. Every individual has the freedom of following one’s own religion and faith. He not only preached but also practiced what he propagated. He emphatically reiterated a number of times: there is only one religion, religion of love; there is only one caste, the caste of humanity; there is only one language, the language of heart; and there is only one God, and that is omnipresent. Through his organizations, he provided water, food and shelter to millions across the world without any charge. Sri Sathya Sai Education System is a unique system of helping child to be what one can become. For him, truly educated person is one who has broad mind and compassionate heart. His life is a message for his devotees. The present research work was conducted in Himachal Pradesh with the purpose of understanding the activities of Sri Sathya Sai Organisation and to study the views of devotees about the life, teachings and works of Sri Sathya Sai Baba. For the conduct of this study, a sample of 324 devotees was taken. Data was collected with the help of a questionnaire which was mailed and also administered by personal interaction. Introduction
The existence of religion is as old as society itself. It constitutes the transcendental objects of inquiry as body of socially cultivated discourses and practices in human society. Religion of one sort or the other appeared to be universal among human beings. Sociology of religion developed on an objective and rational evaluation of the religious phenomenon and religion become a resource of varied interpretations. There are three main approaches generally associated with religion namely, the functionalist interpretation associated with Emile Durkheim, interpretative approach associated with Max Weber and the critical approach with Marxist interpretation of religion. Despite the variations, the sociological perspectives on religion have ultimately been guided by the functionalist dictum that religion is what religion does. Religion as Dharma in Indian civilization had been all encompassing concept. Critical enquiries into the Indian religious tradition started with earliest interpretations by the colonial census officers, which later on were given the social and sociological direction by the sociologists like Ghurye, Milton, Singer, Srinivas and others.

Religion can hardly be indentified or defined except in terms of human social relations. From functionalist perspective, society requires a certain degree of social solidarity, value-consensus and harmony and integration between its parts. Religion promotes social solidarity by dealing with situations of emotional stress which threaten the stability of society. Religion has occupied a central place in human society and human thought. At present, there are eleven religions which are broadly classified in three group i.e. i. Aryan-Hinduism, Jainism, Buddhism, Zoroastrianism, and Sikhism, ii. Semetic-Hebraism, Christianity and Islam, iii. Mongolian – Taoism, Confucianism and Shintoism.

Sri Sathya Sai Movement: Sri Sathya Sai Baba with his extraordinary vision, miraculous powers and leadership led the masses world over in their journey to learn to live a life full of bliss, prosperity and service to others. He ruled the hearts of his devotees through his infinite love. He practiced a unique model of serving others without expecting anything in turn. His only instrument which he used to refer in almost all of his hundreds of discourses is LOVE. His is the unique example of LOVE ALL, SERVE ALL in the whole world. Former President of India, Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam said, ‘I admire Baba Sathya Sai Baba for his selfless work and contributions to the welfare of the people by providing drinking water for the rural population, free healthcare facilities for the rural poor and free higher education’.

The Sai organisation operates in 20 states of India with 6 lakh active members. The Seva dal has strength of nearly 1,40,000 are mahila. The Samithis and Bhajan Mandalis number is about 8350. There are 14695 Bal Vikas centres with over 3 lakh students and nearly 19,000 gurus. The major factors in human resource development are value based education and quality healthcare. In addition, the infrastructural requirement like availability of potable water is an essential need of the human resource. While the government is actively engaged in providing these resources to the citizens, Baba has been sensitive to these essential needs of the Indian population, particularly of the people living in Andhra Pradesh and Karnataka, for over four decades. Keeping this in mind, he has created vast infrastructure for providing value-based quality education to children from primary to university level, established speciality hospitals in rural areas - as early as 1991 when there were no corporate hospitals in such interior regions - and worked on a project to provide potable safe drinking water for people of Anantapur district of Andhra Pradesh. His all human transformation programmes are rooted in spirituality.

Sri Sathya Sai Movement is different in its approach and contents. ‘Baba gave the world a new framework that brought empirical science to unifying force if spirituality, efficiency driven institutions closer to eternal/human values and comforts of modernity closer to stability of tradition. He demonstrated this through the initiatives he started and the institutions he founded. Broadly, they are in the areas of medicine, education and social service, commonly called as medicare, educare and sociocare.

The most important part of Sai movement is Sri Sathya Seva Organization which is active in all the states of India and about 180 countries of the world. Sai Organization has three wings - the spiritual, educational and service. These wings conduct various activities with the purpose of transformation of man and society. Today, in India alone, there are more than 10 lakhs members who voluntarily serve with love and devotion, irrespective of their position or caste. They work in over 2700 villages, slums, hospitals, old age homes, jails, orphanages and in disaster prone areas. They are inspired by Baba’s message that ‘service to man is to service to God’. Seva transforms their own lives and the lives of others who are served.

According to Sri Sathya Sai Baba, all the religions in the world stress on two important factors, Jnana (wisdom) and Bhakti as essential means for God-realisation. The Sai spiritual movement, however, is the essence of all religions and that has to be developed and propagated. The essence, the inner meaning and the goal of all the religions in the world is only one. No religion in the world teaches hatred, conflict and wickedness.

Methodology

The present study was undertaken to understand the teachings and works of Sri Sathya Sai Baba, particularly in the present day world which is going through turmoil and chaotic situations.

Objectives of the study: Main purpose of this study has been to understand the life, teachings and works of Sri Sathya Sai Baba. The main objectives of this study are as under: i. To study the life, teachings and contribution of Sri Sathya Sai Baba in social transformation in different areas like education, health, social welfare, and spirituality. ii. To examine the aims, structure, activities and functioning of Sri Sathya Sai Seva Organisation, an organisation established by Sri Sathya Sai Baba. iii. To study the experiences and views of devotees pertaining to Sai Teachings, Sri Sathya Sai Seva Organisation and Sai Works. iv. To analyse demographic, socio-cultural and economic profile of the study area and the respondents.

The study has been conducted with sociological perspective. It has used descriptive research design and survey work for realizing the research objectives. Primary and secondary sources of collecting information have been used.

Profile of study area: The study has been conducted in the state of Himachal Pradesh. This state is a hilly and mountainous region and is one of the smaller states of India. Its area is 55,673 sq. kms with a population of 68.56 lakhs persons as per Census 2011. Himachal Pradesh comprises of twelve districts, 52 sub-divisions, 75 development blocks, 109 tehsils and sub-tehsils and 3243 panchayats. Its economy mainly depends upon agriculture, horticulture, tourism and allied activities. It is one of the fast developing states and can boast of high literacy rate, high performance on social factors and peaceful society.

Himachal Pradesh is a multi cultural as well as multilingual state like other Indian states. Low castes form only 24 % of the population. The tribal population of the state comprise of the Gaddis, Kinnars, Gujjars, Pangawals, Lahaulis and Spitans. The Kinnars are the inhabitants of the Kinnaur region and have traditionally practiced polyandry and polygamy. The Gujjars are nomads who rear buffalo herbs. Himachal also has sizable population of Tibetans.

The languages spoken by the people are Hindi, Punjabi, Mahasui, Kulluyi, Lahauli, Kinnauri, Chambyal, Sirmauri, Bisapuri, Pahari, Dogri and Kangri. Culture of Himachal Pradesh is rich, extravagant and traditional. Due to this rugged terrain the culture and tradition of the Himachal Pradesh thus, remains unscathed by foreign invasions. Its ethnicity and originality are retained.

It has very rich culture not only exuberant in the physical attire but also in the festival celebrations and musical melodies. They are mainly spiritual and invoke gods and goddesses during festive seasons. Festivals and fairs form an integral part of the culture of Himachal Pradesh. These festivals are full of religious rites and cultural practices that the Himachalis assert in the best of their abilities (www.currentservice.co). Himachal Pradesh is the least urbanized state in India, and so there is an ‘untouched’ simplicity about its inhabitants. Ninety percent of the people live in distant ‘fairy tale’ villages and small towns, and depend on agriculture for their livelihood. Many also rear sheep, goats, and other cattle. Education is the key instrument for developing human capability. Himachal Pradesh has a literacy rate of about 86 per cent. Male/female literacy rate differs considerably in the state as against 90 per cent literacy rate for males and 77 per cent for females.

Hinduism is the main religion in Himachal Pradesh. Music and Dance form a very important part of the Culture of Himachal Pradesh. Another interesting aspect of the culture of Himachal Pradesh is the endless succession of fairs and festivals celebrated in the region. The main festivals are Holi, Dussehra and Diwali, but numerous local festivals are also celebrated with great pomp and grandeur. Himachal Pradesh is also widely renowned for the beautiful handicraft items produced here. The carpets, leather works, shawls, paintings, metalwares, woodwork and paintings of the land are all evocative of the rich culture of Himachal Pradesh.

Sample: For carrying out survey work, District Kangra of Himachal Pradesh has been selected. The main reason of selecting this district is that it is the biggest district in the state has largest number of devotees as compared to other districts. There are 42 Sri Sathya Sai Seva Samithis which have 3500 devotees/members out of whom 1682 are males and 1818 are females. A sample of 350 devotees was selected with the help of proportionate random sampling. 324 questionnaires were found complete in all respects. Primary information has been collected through questionnaire by mail and personal interviews as well.

Results and Discussion
Socio-cultural and economic profile of respondents: Demographic, socio-cultural and economic profile of the respondents portray that 40.13% devotees fall under 46 to 60 years of age, followed by 27.85% and 21.91% under the age group of 61 years and above and 26 to 45 years respectively. In the present study, 50.93 percent females are there as against 49.07% males. In the selected sample, 76.85 percent belong to high castes and 23.15 percent are OBC and Scheduled Caste category. Religion is the most influential force of the society.

Sri Sathya Sai Baba and his teachings: Sri Sathya Sai Baba, one of the most revered spiritual masters of 20th and 21st centuries, established biggest social and spiritual welfare organisations and launched a number of programmes for the good of the humanity. Born on 23rd Nov.1926 in a tiny and backward village of Puttaparthi, Andhra Pradesh, Baba revealed his extra-ordinary talent, compassion and wisdom from the tender age of fourteen years when he declared that his life was for the welfare of people. He engaged in his mission of individual and social transformation through the instrument of love. Bill Aitkan (2012) writes about Sri Sathy Sathya Sai Baba that such saintly beings even when they leave their bodies do not cease their compassionate ministrations, but remain available to those who seek their help. After forty years of his blessings I have come to regard Sathy Sai as probably the most astounding spiritual being in religious history not because of what I have read but because of what I continue to feel at his Darshan, the intoxicating mood of real self hood, that most liberating of mortal ecstasies. From the Table-1 portrays that 34.88 percent devotees know about Sri Sathy Sathya Sai Baba for the last five years while 37.65 percent devotees are aware about him for the last ten years. 27.47 percent devotees know about Him for more than 10 years.

His self-less service to humanity impressed 96.91 percent devotees. 91.05 percent devotees are attracted due to his miracles while 82.72 percent devotees are impressed by his teachings. 58.64 percent respondents felt Sri Sathy Sathya Sai Baba’s omnipresence, omniscience and omnipotence in their day to day life while 58.64 percent devotees have heart to heart communication with him.

Conclusion

According to Kent, “Indeed, following in this line of reasoning, I would suggest that this, to some degree, serves as an unproblematic and even appealing facet of the Sai message; one that is quite compatible with middle class (and professional) aspirations. Parenthetically, this largely unproblematic association between serving others and the devaluation of renouncing materialism also corresponds, albeit coincidentally, with the Sai movement’s growth during a period of increasing relative prosperity for the highly educated, professional and middle classes. Finally, the movement espouses the “existence of an all- embracing source of supernatural power which is manifested in Sai Baba and proven by his miracles”.

Thus it can be summarised that right from childhood, Sri Sathya Sai Baba has dedicated his life for the transformation of individuals, socio-economic upliftment of the society and
